

Klüber Lubrication Introduces Allplex FMG-2 US

Aluminum complex thickened semi-synthetic lubricating grease for food processing applications

Londonderry, NH – (October 24, 2008) – Klüber Lubrication, a worldwide manufacturer of specialty lubricants, introduces its newest development, Allplex FMG-2 US – a multi-purpose grease for food processing, beverage, and pharmaceutical applications with good wear protection properties. Allplex FMG-2 US is your everyday lubricant for general-purpose applications and rounds out Klüber's comprehensive portfolio of NSF H1 registered specialty products.

The chemistry of this work-horse product provides excellent water resistance, a broad operating temperature range, excellent anti-wear/extreme pressure properties, oxidation resistance, and corrosion prevention.

Allplex FMG-2 US is ideal for lubrication of production equipment in beverage canning operations, bottling operations, meat and poultry processing, dairy operations, fruit and vegetable processing, bakeries, and pharmaceutical plants. The product is available in convenient pack sizes for easy application.

Through December 2008, customers benefit from free ground shipping on all online Allplex orders. Allplex FMG-2 US can be purchased online by visiting Klüber's easy-to-use online shopping cart at www.klubershop.com and entering code APX1020 at check-out.
